

2011 Mathematical Contest in Modeling®

Press Release—April 15, 2011

COMAP is pleased to announce the results of the 27th annual Mathematical Contest in Modeling (MCM). This year, 2775 teams representing institutions from sixteen countries participated in the contest. Eight teams from the following institutions were designated as OUTSTANDING WINNERS:

Eastern Oregon University, La Grande, OR
Harvey Mudd College, Claremont, CA
Peking University, Beijing, China
Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, NY
Tsinghua University, Beijing, China
University of Electronic Science and Tech., Chengdu, China
University of Western Ontario, London, Canada
Virginia Tech, Blacksburg, VA

This year's contest ran from Thursday, February 10 to Monday, February 14, 2011. During that time, teams of up to three undergraduate or high school students researched, modeled, and submitted a solution to one of two modeling problems. The 2011 MCM was primarily an online contest. Teams registered, obtained contest materials, and downloaded the problem and data at the prescribed time through COMAP's MCM Website.

This year the two MCM problems represented significant challenges. The author or Problem A is Michael Tortorella, who was also a Final Judge. The problem asked contestants to determine the shape of a snowboard course (currently known as a "halfpipe") to maximize the production of "vertical air" by a skilled snowboarder. "Vertical air" is the maximum vertical distance above the edge of the halfpipe. They were also required to tailor the shape to optimize other possible requirements, such as maximum twist in the air, and to determine the tradeoffs that may be required to develop a "practical" course. Problem B was also written by Michael Tortorella, and required contestants to determine the minimum number of "repeaters" necessary to serve different population sizes and environmental conditions. The VHF radio spectrum involves line-of-sight transmission and reception. This limitation can be overcome by "repeaters," which pick up weak signals, amplify them, and retransmit them on a different frequency. Thus, using a repeater, low-power users (such as mobile stations) can communicate with one another in situations where direct user-to-user contact would not be possible. However, repeaters can interfere with one another unless they are far enough apart or transmit on sufficiently separated frequencies.

For a circular flat area of 40 miles radius, contestants were required to determine the minimum number of repeaters necessary to accommodate 1,000 simultaneous users, assuming that the spectrum available is 145 to 148 MHz, the transmitter frequency in a repeater is either 600 kHz above or 600 kHz below the receiver frequency, and there are 54 different "PL" tones available to reduce the potential of interference. Then, contestants were required to determine how their solution changes if there are 10,000 users. And finally, they were required to discuss the case where there might be defects in line-of-sight propagation caused by mountainous areas.

The eight Outstanding solution papers will be published in The UMAP Journal, along with commentary from the authors and other judges. All 2775 of the competing teams are to be congratulated for their excellent work and enthusiasm for mathematical modeling and interdisciplinary problem solving.

To obtain additional information about the MCM and to obtain a complete listing of all team designations, please visit the MCM Website at: www.mcmcontest.com, or contact COMAP at: mcm@comap.com.

Major funding for the MCM is provided by COMAP. Additional support is provided by the Institute for Operations Research and the Management Sciences (INFORMS) and Two Sigma Investments. COMAP's Mathematical Contest in Modeling and Interdisciplinary Contest in Modeling are unique among modeling competitions in that they are the only international contests in which students work in teams to find a solution. Centering its educational philosophy on mathematical modeling, COMAP uses mathematical tools to explore real-world problems. It serves the educational community as well as the world of work by preparing students to become better informed—and prepared—citizens, consumers, and workers.
